ENVISIONING A NEW EARTH – Janice Coyle

March 24, 2021

SUNDAY MESSAGE

Good Morning Everyone,

Thank you for inviting me to talk again. I think this is the 4th or 5th time I've been with you so thank you.

And thank you Irene for such a lovely version of Imagine, beautiful and perfect! And what a thrill to have you with me again!

Last time I was here I spoke about The Joy of Now – how being in joy is so powerful, so consciousness- expanding and vibrationally uplifting.

Today we will talk about another positive and uplifting endeavor – one that is so critical now.

I've named this talk, Envisioning a New Earth.

Let's begin with a quote from Rumi:

*This place is a dream
Only a sleeper considers it real
Then death comes like dawn
And we wake up laughing
At what we thought was our grief.*

The dream we will talk about today is the dream of a New Earth. We can see our current dream which includes conflicts of all kinds, disease, loving people and people who don't care and are lost, lovely nature and degradation of nature, a place where hundreds of species are dying out each day - a place where some scientists are calling what's happening a mass extinction event including humans - an earth critically ill from pollution and invasively destructive actions – a beautiful earth, still trying to be host to her many lovely life forms with greater and greater difficulty.

So we see the dream that we collectively created over time. Surely it is time to dream again and collectively create a world where joy prospers for everyone, a world where love is Lord.

There is hope. People are spiritually awakening in masses and yearning for the world Irene just sang about. Imagine all the people living life in peace - a peace with all other living beings on our planet. A place where we humans, with our great creative power, use our gifts to honor, protect and dialogue with Mother earth and all of nature

A few months ago, I woke up one morning with the clear instruction to write a book about the New Earth! What! I thought. I don't know that much about it. This can't be MY job! I'm in the middle of writing a memoir. But then I began to research and I found a lot of information and developed or was given this passion I have now.

I found myself especially focused on the importance of envisioning and imagining a new earth a new dream. . And the crucial and urgent need to do this now.

So what creates a dream, an imagining that comes into manifestation? The great spiritual teachers of all time have taught that it is consciousness that creates.

The ancient Upanishads, taught that we have been given free will, free choice. And there is only one choice that underlies all choices. And that one powerful choice is where we place our greatest power, our consciousness our awareness. We are centers of consciousness. We have the one free choice – where we focus it. And they taught that from that focus, a world emerges.

From that focus a world emerges. Think on that!

So, where we focus our attention is what we create! Simple! But, we forget that in every single moment we are creating because we are always focusing that great power on something. In each moment we are giving our attention to fear or love, illness or wholeness, prosperity or lack and what's wrong or what's right.

The Upanishads also taught that what we focus on, either expands or contracts consciousness itself. Are you living with the same old same old habit of attention preferences and therefore limiting your experiences in consciousness? Think of how limiting it is to constantly dwell on what you don't want. You will be stuck. Consciousness will be stuck.

Or, we giving attention to what we want as a new experience in a new world and getting excited about it? Consciousness then expands to draw in brand new experiences.

So where we choose to place our attention makes a huge difference in what we experience.

Where am I focusing my attention? This is a question we can be asking all the time.

Author, spiritual teacher, healer, Penny Kelly, has declared in several of her books:

*The world we have had is because of the consciousness we had.
We change ourselves and a new consciousness emerges.
The new earth will be the result of the new consciousness.*

Well, the world we have had is no longer sustainable in so many ways. It is not life affirming or helpful to spiritual advancement either because of so much fear in people. We see the increasing chaos in the world. The scientists have discovered that chaos signals a transformation of something into a new form. And what will that form be when it transforms? That depends on us.

Our attention on the old dissolving world and its characteristics keeps it going by the powerful energy of our focus. That is the way it is.

This transition period of chaos is our greatest opportunity to either create or destroy. This is the time we need to focus like we never have before on what we want.

To create, we must do two things. First imagine what we want, and then come into vibrational alignment with what we want through strong emotion that gives it liftoff. When we are fearing something for example, we are envisioning its possibility and fueling it with fear. Let there be peace on earth and let it begin with me. We see peace envision it and feel our own peace within. A vision, then a feeling, then manifestation

Are we at peace with ourselves, with all others? How do we treat each other and nature?

I recently spoke with a friend about a conflict I was having with someone - a conflict that needed to be resolved. She said to me: Deal with it in a new earth way! That was so helpful and I envisioned what that would look like and feel like – I meditated and the matter was resolved very peacefully in a win-win way.

In envisioning a new earth, I tried to come up with something I could do to bring myself into alignment with the beautiful, healthy, radiant new earth I envisioned. So I decided one night to simply ask Mother Earth herself.

I asked: What would you like to tell me Mother Earth? What do I need to know from you?

My hand immediately went to my notebook and I quickly transcribed her words:

She said:

I am you. I live in you and you live in me. We are one and always. Ah, where to begin with you.... Look at me, keep your eyes on me; note my form, my moments, my spirit, my light, my tone, my varied body, my beauty, my suffering, my perseverance, my patience.

*SEE me!! That's enough for tonight. I sleep, I awake as you. I dream, I cradle myself as you. One day I will be a star like you. I am going now to my next step toward stardom. Will you come with me? You must SEE ME if you are to come to my newness. Just see more completely. Merge with me. Honor me, love me; and you will fly with me and we will become together more enlightened with light flowing to and from us in brilliant flares of joy and love and knowing.
You love to be seen as do I.
SEE me!*

I interpreted this in part as: see her and behold her REAL self: radiant, ascending, light filled, inspiring and incredibly abundant and whole. See the real not the unreal old that really never was.

SEE me. she insisted. SEE me.

And so I opened my eyes and started looking. I went for walks and looked at the sky, the trees. I observed the comings and goings of everything. I found rhythms I had not noticed. I fell in love with Mother Earth by simply seeing her and feeling her. This gave rise to my current passion to help in the emergence of New Earth in any way I could.

And I was also being urged on by my guidance, my dreams, and my inner loud voices all kept reminding me to focus on New Earth and give attention, imagination to the new that is emerging and let go of the old.

And so I looked even more and kept envisioning a happier Mother Earth and radiantly whole and happy inhabitants who came together as one love. After a while I began to find points of light amid the chaos, many points of light. So much so, that I wondered if the earth is in the 5th dimension in some places and still in 3D in others. Confusing! But I decided to focus on the points of light. And with that decision I found more and more and more points of light.

For example, many new organizations have sprung up to help create New Earth. Freedom Cells, is an organization promoting self-sustaining communities and groups who come together in mutual assistance. Connecting Consciousness is a growing international group dedicated to mutual education, peace, social action and community dialogue. The New Earth Project website is a large international forum for peace initiatives, environmental, medical, technological and educational dialogue and information from noted experts in the field.

There are so many more organizations.

Then there are amazing individuals living in and becoming new earth people. There is Penny Kelly writer of many books who is among many other things, a new earth gardener. She has established friendship and dialogue with the spirits of plants, insects, animals, elves. For example, she made a deal with certain insects who are usually sprayed and killed as pests. She decided to become friends with them and entered into a win-win peace negotiation. The bugs agreed they would only feed on three rows specially planted to their liking and leave the other crops alone and they have kept their bargain for years..

And there is Machaelle Small Wright, who has a farm and research center in Virginia called Perelandra. Like Penny, she has developed a co-creative relationship with nature spirits She has authored 9 books that teach people how to accomplish this themselves. She is a remarkable energy worker. For instance, she teaches us how to cleanse the environment around us by using our powerful imagination along with intelligent energy. One of her important teachings is the powerful ecological effects of our thoughts

I found so many other inspiring points of light to share with you - so many on every subject of interest. We are now compiling a list of them with descriptions. They will be published on our website as soon as possible

What can we do? For one thing, each of us has the power to enhance and expand these points of light through the energy of our attention, our imaginations, our heartfelt affirmative prayer.

We all have gifts, talents, and massive creative power already right now to use. What do you love, what do you do easily? Focus on it and do it and a share it. We all are points of light.

I don't have the expertise of some of the people I've mentioned. So what can I do, I thought? What do I know? I meditated and realized I know a lot about the healing magic of where we place our focus. And if anything needs healing most, it is Mother Earth who is crucial to our physical survival.

I spoke to you here some time ago about Healing. Maybe you remember that I told you stories of people I know whose very critical conditions were suddenly brought into remission. How? by letting go of the belief and thoughts of illnesses. They were distracted from their cancers and incurable hepatitis by play, fun, relationship, love, so much so that they forgot about their illnesses. No attention on the illness, no energy on it, no creation anymore!

In the face of these higher vibrational and life affirming feelings and actions, their conditions vanished and very quickly! Why? because they were no longer feeding it with their greatest power – attention and affirmations of its reality. Instead they were engaged in fun and joy. This also happened to me when I had cancer and decided to focus on one truth: God is Love. I focused day and night and affirmed everything is love, the radiation is love, the cancer is love, everything is love. I refused any other thought or belief; and one night the cancer vanished.

So I thought, this is something I know for sure. I can do something with this.

And so, I have decided to facilitate a new group that will be called. The New Earth Visioning Project. In this group we will help each other envision the world we want and begin acting on that vision. We will disengage our focus on the problems, the fear, the dissonance and chaos. Instead we will envision a beautiful, prosperous, loving world where we all will live as one.

We will incorporate spiritual practices to bring ourselves into alignment with our visions. Together We will come to know our incredible powers of creating through our intent, visualization and fervent desire. By utilizing the energy of coordinated visioning and vibrational alignment, we will become pivotal instruments in the emerging new earth.

Am I ambitious for us? YES! Absolutely. Because I know how much power we have with our consciousness, our focus. We have created and are creating now what we see out there. We CAN create anew and quickly.

We can envision a new dream, a new earth with joy. We can fall in love with this vision. And if enough of us do this, we can change the world in an instant. How? Again, by letting go of focus on what we don't want and enthusiastically joyfully focus on what we long for, it can happen and quickly, and the world will be healed just like the cancers were healed very quickly.

What is your gift? What do you know? What is your vision of new earth? Write it down, fall in love with your vision. Keep it close to your heart at all times. Disengage in the chaos, the fears, the media. Focus instead on your vision.

We are all points of light, every one of us. We just don't put our focus on it. Mother Earth told me to look and really SEE her. We all can do that for her, look out really SEE the beauty, the amazing resilience of nature and how truly heroic is nature!

And as we do this, we can begin a friendship and loving dialogue with nature, the trees, the sky the grass, the animals. And also, let's look and really SEE ourselves and each other and prove our power of creating by just watching our processes of creation; be honest with how we think and what we believe in and where we are placing our attention; then, honestly look at our creation. If we really honestly closely look we will be amazed at what amazing creators we are and have always been.

We create all the time unconsciously, now let's begin creating with full consciousness. Then and only then will we become conscious of ourselves as already powerful and multidimensional creators.

I mentioned the chaos, the lack of health in the earth, and it is easy to see especially if we continue looking at it and worrying about it. But, I am suggesting we look again and look hard again and see something else emerging. Focus on the lights out there.

We have free will. We can focus on the fear, the marginalization of people, the restrictions, the diseases. We can choose to continue focusing on it, believe in it, and thereby continue that creation. OR: We can choose to create again – create something that will bring us new and more lovely experiences in consciousness. With our combined power we can do amazing things.

My friend, Jean wrote down her vision on new earth. In part she wrote:

My vision of a new more beautiful earth is one of harmony and light in the midst of ever changing life. In this new earth, the imagination, coupled with intention and inspiration, with linked heart and mind pathways, will open up possibilities not dreamed of before, even in psychedelic peaks or mystical ecstasies.

And what remains of our old and familiar world when the new earth is born? What remains are the memories of what once was. What remains is love that never dies. What remains are the hopes of all who have gone before.

It is not a matter of time, it is a matter of consciousness, fed by love. So shall it be one day; the new earth. So shall it be.

As a collective, I can't see a more pivotal time to make a choice and choose New Earth, envision her and see her whole and healed along with ourselves.

This is a life or death choice my friends. We are at a crossroad where anything can happen. We could blow ourselves up with chemical weapons, or just our powerful fearful affirmations, and further damage and destroy the precious life on our planet.

Or, we can choose to heal in an instant. Jean's vision could happen now or It can wait for thousands more years. We can do it now. WE really do have that power.

As I see it, there are two choices: Focus on the chaos of a dying world dream; or, focus on our beautiful dreams of New Earth and ourselves as amazing beings doing amazing things.

Which one do you choose? You are free to choose, free in every moment of every day, to choose.

Where will you place your powerful attention?

It is your choice.

Thank you
Namaste.
